The home test is similar to one of the two supervised tests used for entry into Mensa.

You will need to time yourself in order to get an accurate assessment of your likelihood to pass the supervised test.

You will receive an indication of your performance relative to your chances of passing the entry test and not an actual IQ score.

*Please Note: Psychologists with knowledge of or experience in giving IQ tests may not be eligible to sit the normal entry tests. Please contact the Recruiting Officer <recruiting@mensa.org.au>

**Applicants under 14 years of age can not sit the Supervised test and can only be admitted to Mensa on the basis of an IQ test administered by a Psychologist Applicants between the ages of 14 and 18 require the consent of a parent or guardian.

If either of these situations prevent you from sitting the Supervised Test, then a Home Test may not be helpful.
