The psychologist form is used to qualify for Mensa admission based on results of an IQ test conducted by a registered psychologist. The form itself must be filled in by the psychologist who performed the test.

Before you request the form, make sure that the test you took is one accepted by Mensa Australia as listed on our website www.mensa.org.au and that your results correspond to the passing result listed there.

If both these conditions are not met your application will not be accepted, but you can still sit for a supervised test and gain entry that way.

Please Note: If you have a psychology degree or are a practising psychologist, contact the Recruiting Officer <recruiting@ mensa.org.au> before proceeding.
